ENDURANCE 1914 to 1916

“in my grandfather’s footsteps”
an illustrated talk by Alan Wordie

Alan Wordie is the grandson of Sir James Wordie, chief scientist and geologist on the Endurance expedition of 1914 - 1916

Drawing on his grandfather’s diaries and recollections, Alan throws a personal and fascinating light on Shackleton’s iconic expedition and the extraordinary rescue of the whole crew following 18 months stranded on Antarctic ice.
